LBJ's Proposed Health Care for Aged Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal for health care of the aged was dropped today by the House Ways and Means Committee, which thus dealt a heavy blow at any chance of enactment this year.

The committee went on to try to fashion a bill to increase the cash payments to persons retired under Social Security, but deadlocked. More sessions were scheduled later today.

Proponents of the health care measure themselves moved to drop it from committee consideration, thus avoiding a certain vote against it.

The motion by Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., co-author of the bill to provide health care under Social Security, also ruled out consideration of any alternate plan or any improvements to the existing system of state-federal health care for the indigent.

The committee adopted it by voice vote, it was reported. The effect was to narrow committee consideration to changes in the retirement system.

Dean Murphy Picks Mgr. of Campaign

Raymond E. Stephenson of Monticello, who directed the successful campaign of Mrs. Catherine Norrell to succeed her late husband in Congress, will head the campaign of Dean Murphy of Hope in his drive to unseat Congressman Oren Harris of El Dorado.

Stephenson, 47, has operated a funeral home in Monticello for more than a quarter of a century and is a past president of the Arkansas Funeral Directors Association.

In announcing the selection, Murphy would "bring Congressional representation closer to home."

"I know the record of our opponent and the progress he has made in Congress and his ambitious climb to the chairmanship of important committees," Stephenson said. "But his voting record indicates that he has spent so much time on committee business that he has been unable to visit the people of his greatly expanded district which now comprises 28 counties."

"I have been convinced for some time that an amalgamated district like ours—which is one of the largest in area and population—needs the personal attention of its representative. I don't believe he can do this by telephone and mail."

"When I began to ask people when was the last time they saw our Congressman, invariably their answer was: 'the last time I was in Washington or the last time he had opposition.'"

"Dean Murphy has promised that he will represent all the people equally. I believe in the programs he has prescribed. I am certain he will be a representative of all the people of his district when he gets elected."

Stephenson served as publicity director for the Monticello Ridge Tomato Festival for many years and has served as correspondent for several state newspapers.

Stephenson said he viewed his major job as organizing the detail work of the campaign so Murphy could get around and meet as many people as possible.

"I want to set up a visiting schedule that he can meet in a non-election year, too, so the people of our district can get to know their Congressman and he can get to know them."

$1,377 for Cancer Is Collected

The American Cancer Society ended its Crusade, April 30th in Hempstead County. All indications are that it was a most successful Crusade against cancer in both its educational and fund-raising aspects.

While final reports are still to come in, Mrs. Dick Turnage explained that present tabulations show that volunteers distributed 3,000 life-saving educational leaflets to homes in Hempstead County and collected $1,377.06 for the Society's programs of research, education and service.

Mrs. Turnage said that final figures on the number of educational leaflets distributed and the total number of dollars raised will not be known until August 31st.

"Then all books will be audited in accordance with the standards established by the National Health Council for voluntary health agencies," the Society's Chairman said.

"While the end of April marks the end of our annual Crusade," she said, "the fight against cancer does not end. It is a continuing and growing program. If we are going to win the fight against cancer we cannot relax for a moment. Every moment has urgent needs for research, education and service."

"I hope that those who did not make a contribution during the Crusade in April will do so now by sending one to the American Cancer Society, Hempstead County Unit, Hope, Arkansas."

Just a Few of the Everyday Remarks That a Man Gets Tired of Hearing All Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks that fathers get tired of hearing:

"Don't take off your shoes. Don't you remember — we're going out tonight."

"Well, the cat finally had her kittens today. What are you going to do about them?"

"That's your father coming in now, young man. Just wait until I tell him what you've been up to all day."

"You can spank me if you want to, Dad. But if you do—don't expect any present from me next Father's Day."

Congress Told to Work, GOPs Cry 'Unfair'

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's call to Congress to go on a six-day work week until next month's Republican national Convention brought angry protests today from GOP House leaders.

"It just isn't fair play," said Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

"This looks like an attempt by the President of the United States to sabotage the Republican convention," commented Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP Platform Committee.

The committee starts its sessions in San Francisco July 6, one week before the convention opens. Many members of Congress are on the committee. Many others want to air their views before it.

Republicans had counted on the House being in recess the entire week starting July 6, with the Senate holding only token sessions.

The recess outlook has dimmed because of Johnson's reported insistence that Congress enact the civil rights bill and start action on his anti-act program before the convention.

The President said at a news conference Tuesday he wants Congress to work longer and act on about 30 "desirable" proposals before adjournment.

He prodded the legislators to give his proposals their "full attention six days a week until the Republican convention" and then return to work after the convention.

Leaders had planned to seek final adjournment before the Democratic convention opens in Atlantic City Aug. 24.

Johnson listed these matters as among those he wants Congress to act on:

Mass transportation, wilderness preservation, area redevelopment, education assistance.

Football Is Topic at Kiwanis Meet

The 1964 Hope High School football team will be tough and interesting to watch. Allen Howard, new head coach, told Hope Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon meeting Tuesday.

"We will run our offense from the T-formation with flankers and some variations. We will stress a strong running game, but will also throw some passes on the run-pass option play. The defense will be built around the monster-type formation," the coach pointed out.

He did not mention personnel, but the weakest spots at the moment appear to be the ends where depth is lacking. The same situation appears at the tackle posts where new men must be found.

We are in good shape at the two guard posts and alright at the center position, the coach went on to say.

"I am a strict believer in discipline. We will have a touch team, and one exciting to watch. We are not over-blessed with material, so we must count on a well-conditioned team, and a touch team with speed."

Coach Howard said much improvement must be done with the Junior High team, boys from the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades, who will be future players for the Bobcats. He said he had the promise of 48 recruits for the Junior team.

He then turned to the importance of track and development of athletes in all sports from track experience—where speed is stressed. If we are to compete with other 4AA schools, we must establish a good track program for our youth here.

Negroes in Va. County Plan Action

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP)—Negro leaders in Prince Edward County, Va. dissatisfied with the amount of funds appropriated for reopening public schools, said today they will seek a federal court order to get more money.

The County Board of Supervisors, acting under a federal court order, voted 4-2 Tuesday to reopen the schools in September. They were closed in 1959 to avoid integration.

The board approved the allocation of $189,000 in local funds—an amount one Negro leader called "hopelessly inadequate."

The Rev. L. Francis Griffin of Farmville, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People criticized the appropriation as "evidence that an integrated school system is not intended by the supervisors."

He said the amount will be tested in U.S. District Court in Richmond.

Lodge Likely to Give Choice to Republicans

An AP News Analysis
By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge's return from South Viet Nam might offer Republicans a choice of candidates to oppose Sen. Barry Goldwater for the GOP presidential nomination.

Lodge announced in Saigon Tuesday he was quitting his ambassadorial post and coming home because he felt it was his "duty to do everything that I can to help Gov. Scranton to win for president."

Later, he said "there are no hidden meanings" in his decision to return to the United States and he is "not a candidate at all." He added, "I am not going back at all in order to connive at anything for myself. I cannot be drafted."

Lodge's decision to jump into presidential politics was widely heralded by the backers of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton as a major development in his efforts to win delegates away from Goldwater.

Scranton said he was delighted by Lodge's decision to return and added, "This is another big boost for this rapidly expanding campaign." He said he hoped to have Lodge "go around and tell the people why they should be for me."

Supporters of Goldwater, who has more than enough publicity committed convention votes to win the nomination if his delegates stand pat, generally discounted Lodge's move.

Local Student Writes About Scotland

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., (Special)—The friendliness of the Scottish people is most impressive, Albert Hargis, son of Mrs. Ruth C. Hargis, Hope, writes from Scotland.

Hargis is a saxophonist in the Evangel College Wind Ensemble and Male Chorus, currently on a concert tour of Europe. He was graduated from Evangel in May with a B.S. degree in history.

"Glasgow is an old city steeped in tradition and history, yet with a taste of the modern way of life everywhere," Hargis writes.

Hargis says he particularly likes the green countryside of Scotland, their afternoon teas, "and their proud way about their past history."

The flight across the Atlantic was very smooth, Hargis adds, and the service was excellent. The first touch of Scotland, the first country on the concert itinerary, was encountered by the students when they landed at the airport in Preswick, Scotland. The nasal tones of a bagpipe could be heard as the plane taxied to a stop. For all but three of the 46 members of the touring group it was the first visit to Europe, so the pipers were extensively photographed.

The musicians then entered the airport to await custom clearance. After the students were questioned their suitcases were approved without opening. However, the officials opened and examined each instrument case.

Boarding the chartered bus provided by their Scottish hosts, the students met the driver, who introduced himself as Jack, from London. Jack told them, "Now don't worry about the side of the road I drive on, I'm used to it."

The students say Scotland is beautiful and green, and it seems to rain everyday. The natives call it Scottish mist. When asked about when the sun would shine, the Scots told them, "We hope for sun every day. Sometimes we hope all summer." The most surprising thing to the musicians is that it is light until 11 p.m.

The houses in Scotland are stone or brick with tile roofs. The only ones of wood were those built during wartime when stone was hard to get. The majority are council-owned houses, so row on row of houses look identical. The similarity of the council houses causes each

Negro Named to Virginia Council

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—Petersburg voters have elected a Negro, John H. Owens, to the City Council for the first time in nearly 100 years.

Owens received 1,724 votes Tuesday for one of the three seats open on the council in a runoff election.

Others elected were Lester I. Bowman, with 2,179, and Vice Mayor Arlie G. Andrews, with 1,933.

town to look alike.

The neatness of the homes and gardens impressed the students. Every house has a very small front yard, but each yard is immaculately clean and flowered. The farms are all separated by stone walls or fences covered with shrubbery. There is a complete absence of billboards.

The touring musicians have visited Loch Lomond, Gare Loch, and Loch Long, the Firth of Forth, and the Firth of Clyde. They also toured Linlithgow Palace, birthplace of Mary, Queen of Scots; and Edinburgh Castle birthplace of her son James the Sixth of Scotland and the First of England. In addition, they saw Scotland's national memorial to pioneer missionary David Livingstone.

One day during an hour wait before "high tea," the students invited six little boys on board the bus and asked them what they thought America was like. They replied, "You have four-lane roads, big cars, skyscrapers, and Yankee Dandee Lords!" They are familiar with our television programs. One of the party was introduced as "there's a real American like you see on television."

Four-lane roads are unknown in Scotland. Due to narrow streets and having to stop to let other vehicles pass, it took the students' bus over an hour to travel the twenty-mile distance from Kilsyth to Motherwell.

The response to the concerts has been excellent. The students found to their amazement that band music is a novelty in Scotland. The public schools do not have bands or orchestras, and do not teach band music. In Kilsyth, Scotland, Jesse Peterson, director of the ensemble and chorus, asked how many in the audience had heard a band in the last year. Not a hand was raised. In Motherwell, Scotland, he changed the question to ten years, and still not a person responded.

In Kilsyth the auditorium seated 500 people. The ensemble and chorus gave a Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon concert series, with 800 people in attendance each time. Many stood the entire time.

Upon arrival in Motherwell, the musicians found they were scheduled for a united rally in the Clason Memorial Church of the Church of Scotland. Approximately 750 people were in the audience. The musicians were told that it was the first time a band had played in the church.

When the students boarded the bus to leave Kilsyth, nearly 600 townspeople gathered to say goodbye. As the bus departed they waved and sang Scottish songs. The students were touched by the tremendous response to the "American friends," and say Scotland is a country they would like to visit again.

Next countries on the tour are England, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Denmark, Germany, Belgium, France, and Switzerland.

This is the first European tour for the Evangel College

Storm Damage at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A thunderstorm damaged a hospital, ripped a section of roof off a funeral home, started a fire and caused flash flooding here Tuesday.

Winds reached 40 miles an hour in gusts and marble-sized hail fell as the city recorded about an inch of rain.

Water poured onto equipment in a storage penthouse on the Warner Brown Hospital after winds damaged an air duct. The inside of Young's Funeral Home was soaked as rain pelted the damaged roof.

Lightning struck electrical wires leading into the home of Larry Waters, jumped to a na-

Instead, the Arizonan said, "Ambassador Lodge is to be congratulated for bearing up this long under such adverse conditions. The Johnson-McNamara program of indecision and vacillation has made it impossible for him to carry out his ambassadorial functions properly and undoubtedly motivated his resignation." Lodge gave no hint of such a factor in his letter of resignation.

While nobody questioned the sincerity of Lodge's commitment to back Scranton, some party strategists noted there were elements present that could lead to unpredictable developments.

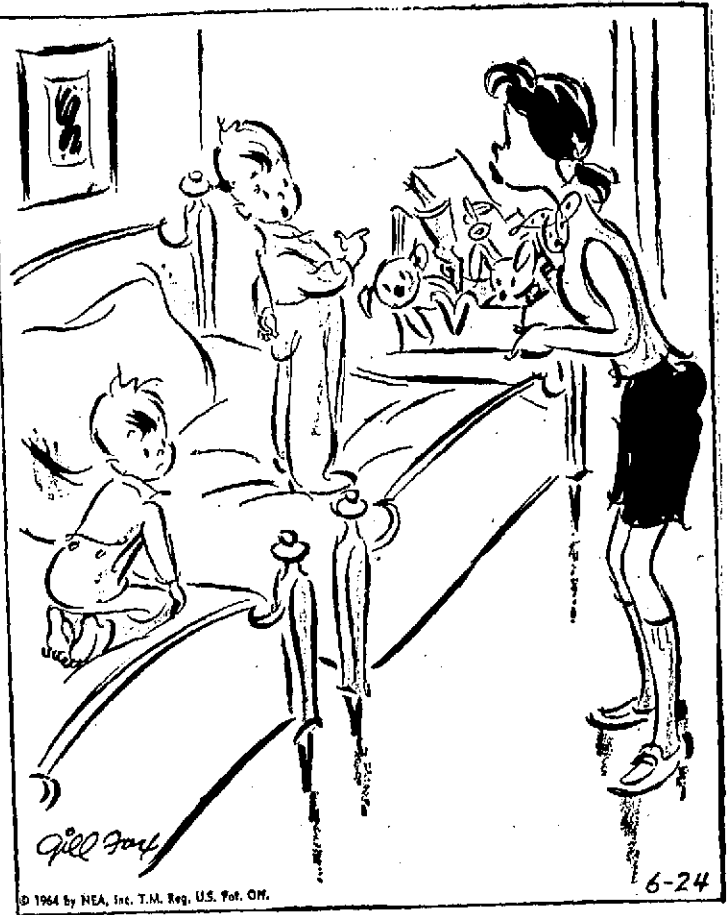

This would be true particularly, they said, if there was a resurgence of Lodge's popularity in the national polls. These listed him as top choice of the rank and file for the nomination before he ran second to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the May 15 Oregon primary. Some polls still give Lodge high ratings.

Big Revolt Against Hoffa's Plan

NEW YORK (AP) — A major revolt against Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa's plan for a nationwide contract in the car-delivery industry shaped up today with locals from Tarrytown, N.Y., to Baltimore reported out on strike.

The East Coast locals had rejected the pact earlier this month, but the international union ordered another vote. Scattered reports indicated the members voted overwhelmingly against it Monday night.

The eight car-delivery concerns which haul new cars from assembly plants to dealers negotiate through the National Automobile Haulers Conference.

Their old contract with the 17 locals in the Eastern Conference of Teamsters, with locally negotiated supplements, expired June 15. It contained a provision calling for the negotiation of a national agreement.

The strike could close General Motors, Ford and Chrysler assembly plants. Cars pouring off the assembly lines would overflow the limited parking space.

Striking locals reportedly oppose the national contract because they fear it would take away their autonomy and some of their fringe benefits, which are negotiated locally to some extent.

"DEAR ABBY"

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: We live on a farm and my sister, who is in her 40's, does the farm work. She wears jeans and a blouse and goes out in the field with the tractor to work. When it gets hot, she sheds her blouse, and works in her bra. She is of a slight build, and has little for anyone to see, but all the same, when my parents, and brothers and sisters-in-law meet her out-of-doors dressed like that they blow their stacks. She says it's no different than being on the beach in a swim suit. Lots of strangers come by our place, but she says it's our property and if they don't like what they see they don't have to look. Who is right? And how do you handle a situation like this?

SLIPPERY ROCK

Dear Slippery: A "Bra" is an underground and should not be worn as an outer garment. There are halters for that purpose. In my opinion, your sister should wear halters. However, a 40-year-old woman who drives a tractor is not interested in a lecture from me (OK from you) on propriety and fashion. Be realistic and give up.

Dear Abby: I just read the letter from the 12-year-old girl who resented being an unpaid baby-sitter for her parents. I am 16 and have two younger sisters and a baby brother. My father works from seven a.m. until six p.m., six days a week, and my mother is tied down to her housework and the children all day. I've been babysitting for four years. I like to earn money, too, but I would give up a date or a baby-sitting job at the slightest hint that my parents wanted to go out for an evening. They deserve it! Who needs to be paid? Their love and appreciation are all the pay I want. "Unpaid" is only 12. She had better overcome her selfishness and be grateful that she can do something for her parent.

RUTH B. IN ERIE, PA.

Dear Ruth: It's a joy to print your letter. I wish my readers knew how many wholesome, generous, and considerate teenagers there are. Unfortunately, the only ones they read about are those who get into trouble.

Dear Abby: Please don't think I am stupid but I don't know where else to get this information. When living in a rented house, who is supposed to take down the storm windows and put up the screens? The tenant

Swedes Smash Khrushchev Kidnap Plot

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) —Swedish police have smashed a plot to kidnap Soviet Premier Khrushchev and hold him hostage for the release of political prisoners behind the Iron Curtain.

Police confirmed that at least one man, described only as a 30-year-old foreigner, was arrested Monday near Haga Castle, where the Soviet leader is staying during his five-day state visit.

The man reportedly confessed that he and several other men had planned to smash their way through the castle gates in a truck.

The newspaper Aftonbladet, which has close connections with the Swedish government, said the man in custody was a Hungarian. Police declined to confirm this.

There also was speculation that the plot was hatched by members of the Ustashi, a fanatical Croatian anti-Communist organization which fought for the Nazis during World War II.

The Ustashi reportedly has a strong membership in Sweden, which is haven for about 30,000 refugees from Communist countries.

Two weeks before Khrushchev's arrival in Sweden, the newspaper Expressen said the Ustashi had threatened openly to kill the Soviet leader.

"Khrushchev will die in Sweden," Expressen quoted a Ustashi leader as saying.

County police Supt. Aake Magnusson signed the charge sheet against the arrested man. Magnusson described a report by a Stockholm newspaper that the plotters were armed with submachine guns as a "dreamed up story."

In the wake of the arrest, the 5,000 policemen in Stockholm for Khrushchev's visit were reinforced by two special commando units.

At Haga Castle, only one gate was kept open and it was protected by scores of uniformed police and plainclothes detectives.

The kidnap plot was the first serious incident reported during Khrushchev's Scandinavian tour which began in Denmark on June 16. He arrived in Sweden on Monday.

Because of previous threats, police operations and restrictions were decidedly more severe in Sweden than in Denmark.

Police were told to shoot anyone making a threatening move toward Khrushchev. They reportedly were told to fire "even if you are in a crowd."

Swedish police normally are permitted to shoot only after being fired on.

Smith Bats L.A. to Win; Yanks Lose to Pirates

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
When Hollywood made the movie, "Angels in the Outfield," they weren't talking about Willie Smith. All of the Angels, however, are talking about him now.

The movie was a story of the heavenly kind of angels in the outfield of the Pittsburgh Pirates. But Smith, a Los Angeles Angel, has been a devil a bat. The pitcher turned outfielder lashed two singles and a two-run homer Tuesday night, sparking Los Angeles to a 2-0 triumph over Washington. The victory was the seventh straight for the Angels, equaling the longest winning streak in the majors this season.

It also marked the second consecutive night Smith won games with his bat. His pinch-hit single the night before drove in the tie-breaking run in a 5-2 victory over the Senators.

The 25-year-old lefty was a pitcher until Manager Bill Rigney decided Smith deserved a trial as a hitter. Rigney now believes there's never been anyone more deserving.

Smith reached the majors last year with Detroit. He pitched in 11 games, gaining a 1-0 record and a 4.50 earned run average. The Angels acquired him April 29 in a trade for Julio Navarro.

As a southpaw hurler this season, Smith has a poor 1-4 record in 14 relief appearances and one start but has a respectable 2.61 ERA.

When Smith was inserted into the line-up for his hitting, Rigney didn't fool around. The manager placed him in right field and made him the No. 4 batter. Smith's performance Tuesday night rocketed his average 40 points to .319. He has two home runs and 10 runs batted in for 47 times at bat.

His pinch-hitting record is even more amazing. He has seven hits in 14 chances, with five of the hits coming in his last seven tries.

That's pretty heavenly in Rigney's book. Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Baltimore ripped New York 9-8, Chicago blanked Boston 2-0, Minnesota whipped Cleveland 6-2 and Detroit trampled Kansas City 9-3 after losing 2-1.

In the National League, Philadelphia lost to Chicago 2-0, then won 9-0; San Francisco stopped Cincinnati 4-0 before dropping a 5-4 decision in 11 innings; Milwaukee defeated Los Angeles 5-2, St. Louis edged Houston 5-4 and Pittsburgh defeated New York 5-1.

Smith's homer in the eighth inning broke up a scoreless pitching duel between the Angels' Dean Chance and Bennie Daniels. Chance wound up tossing a four-hitter for his fifth victory against three defeats. The shutout reduced his ERA to 1.91.

The Yankees appeared well on their way to an easy victory when the Orioles struck for seven runs after two were out in the eighth. Pinch hitter Charley Lau ignited the comeback with a single and climaxed it with a run-scoring double.

Brooks Robinson and Willie Kirkland each singled home two runs in the inning, when it was all over. Baltimore was in first place one-half game ahead of New York. Elston Howard, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris homered for the losers.

Fred Talbot scattered eight hits for the White Sox. Pete Ward homered, and J. C. Mar-

Ray Culp Hurls Way Back as a Phil Starter

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Ray Culp has pitched his way back into the Philadelphia Phillies' starting rotation. All it took was a near replica of teammate Jim Bunning's perfect game.

A first-inning base on balls and Len Gabrielson's sixth-inning single came between Culp and perfection, attained two days earlier by Bunning, as the 22-year-old right-hander blanked Chicago 9-0 in the second game of a doubleheader Tuesday night.

No other Cub reached base against Culp, whose early season troubles cost him a front-line job on Gene Mauch's lead-pitching staff.

Mauch, thoroughly impressed after Culp's effort, announced that the National League-leading Phils will go with five starters henceforth.

"With Bunning, (Dennis) Bennett, (Art) Mahaffey and (Chris) Short working so well," the manager said, "we just haven't been able to give Ray enough work. The doubleheaders enabled us to use him more. Now he's pitching like he did last year."

Culp, a $100,000 bonus baby five years ago, won 14 games in 1963, his rookie season, and led Philadelphia pitchers with 176 strikeouts. He reported with a sore arm this spring, dropped five of six decisions and found himself in the bullpen.

But three victories—including the one-hitter—and two complete games in his last three appearances have vaulted the young Texan back into the Phils' pennant plan.

The second-game victory gave the Phils a split of the two-nighter. Chicago took the opener 2-0 on Dick Ellsworth's five-hitter.

Second-place San Francisco divided with Cincinnati, winning 4-0 before bowing 5-4 in 11 innings. Pittsburgh defeated New York 5-1; Milwaukee beat Los Angeles 5-2 and St. Louis nipped Houston 5-4.

In the American League, Baltimore edged New York 9-8; Chicago blanked Boston 2-0; Los Angeles downed Washington by the same score; Minnesota beat Cleveland 6-2 and Kansas City split with Detroit, winning the opener 2-1 and losing the nightcap 9-3.

Culp said after the game he relied mainly on his fast ball against the Cub hitters.

"I had arm trouble late last year and early this season because I threw too much breaking stuff," he recalled.

He said Gabrielson's hit, a golfed shot off a low fast ball, surprised him. "I jammed him down and in, and he sliced it to right."

Culp wasn't ecstatic about his performance. "We're on top and I'm not a winning pitcher. If I was 10-5 with this club I'd have something to be happy about."

Philie hitters were beaming after their 17-hit supporting role in the second-game victory. Wes Covington homered, Richie Allen cracked three doubles and John Herrnstein had four hits, including a pair of doubles.

The opener was another story. Ellsworth breezed to his ninth victory in 15 decisions. Ernie Banks singled home one run and rookie Billy Ott doubled in the other.

Marty Keough's lead-off homer in the 11th inning earned Cincinnati a split with San Francisco and kept the Giants 1½ games behind Philadelphia. Jim Hart's eighth-inning homer, his second of the game, had pulled the Giants even.

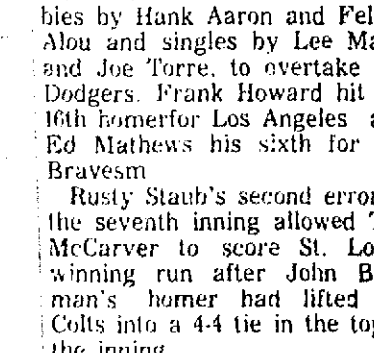

Juan Marichal scattered seven singles in the opener and ran his record to 9-3. The Giants scored all their runs in the third inning. Duke Snider and Jose Pagan singled home two each.

Dick Schofield drove in four runs, three on a homer, and Vern Law pitched his fourth straight victory as the Pirates handed the Mets their 11th loss in 12 games.

Milwaukee snapped a seven-game losing string, rallying for three runs in the seventh on doubles by Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou and singles by Lee Maye and Joe Torre, to overtake the Dodgers. Frank Howard hit his 16th homer for Los Angeles and Ed Matthews his sixth for the Braves.

Rusty Staub's second error of the seventh inning allowed Tim McCarver to score St. Louis' winning run after John Bates' homer had lifted the Colts into a 4-4 tie in the top of the inning.

Thinks Mays Best Player in Majors

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays, who did not vote for Willie Mays, please stand up?

Or is he too busy cutting out paper dolls? Maybe he has suddenly gone blind. Or could it be he just can't spell M-A-Y-S.

How any major league ball player, sound of mind, devoid of prejudice, either over or under 21, could pick any center fielder in the United States—or in the world for that matter—over Mays is almost impossible to imagine.

Yet one did just that in the All-Star balloting conducted by Commissioner Ford Frick's office and announced Tuesday.

Actually, 30 players did not vote for Mays as the National League starting center fielder but 29 had a legitimate excuse. They were Willie's teammates and the rule says you can't vote for a member of your team.

But what excuse did the other non-Mays voter have? This guy voted for Curt Flood of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Now Flood is a capable center fielder but it's useless to even try to compare him with Mays. Or compare any other center fielder with Mays.

Willie is simply incomparable. He's a league all to himself. Whenever rival players or managers begin comparing stars, as they often do, they invariably place Mays in a category of his own. Then they begin evaluating the others.

Willie received 240 out of a possible 241 votes.

It would serve this lonesome guy right if the other 240 voted to have him appear at home plate before the All-Star game, July 7, and say out loud, a thousand times:

"Willie Mays. Willie Mays. Willie Mays."

Britain to Bring Back Past Masters

By JOHN GALE
Associated Press Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Britain will make a determined move next month to bring the great names of professional tennis back to Wimbledon's green and rain-washed turf.

As the organizers of the 78th All-England championships surveyed the ruins of Tuesday's rain-wrecked session, they enthused over their recall-the-stars scheme which will be presented July 8 to the International Lawn Tennis Federation meeting in Vienna.

If approved, it could mean the return to major tournaments of such past masters as Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Tony Trabert and Alex Olmedo. All are now in the ranks of the paid players.

Said David Reay, secretary of the British Lawn Tennis Association:

"We will make a hard effort to get the British plan through. It will be a terrific disappointment for Britain if we can't get an open Wimbledon next year though I hasten to add it is not the end of the world."

The British plan proposes that tennis countries should be given sanction to stage experimental open tournaments during 1965-66. Alternatively, it says that whatever other countries do, Wimbledon should be allowed to go it alone with the experiment during the two-year period.

The British plan needs two-thirds of the Vienna vote for approval. It seems unlikely to be forthcoming.

The Australian Association already has said it will vote against the British proposals. The United States is expected to do likewise.

Tuesday's watery Wimbledon lasted just long enough to demonstrate again the rising standard of Soviet tennis.

Anna Dmitrieva, 23-year-old Russian girl, took the first set 6-4 in her first-round match against Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., winner of the 1962 Wimbledon title. The match was called off with the Russian leading 2-1 in the second set after the slippery court surface had spilled Mrs. Susman five times.

Only a dozen contests were completed—less than one sixth of the program. But there was time enough for the two top seeds, Margaret Smith and Maria Bueno, to romp through their opening assignments.

Miss Smith, from Australia, crushed Annette Van Zyl of South Africa 6-2, 6-1. Brazil's Miss Bueno produced the full flow of her royal strokes to sweep by Carol Prosen of Orlando, Fla., 6-0, 6-3.

Nicklaus Is Top Man in Golf Payoff

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP)—The big-money golf tourists are beginning to bunch up, but youthful Jack Nicklaus is taking steps to stay on top.

The 24-year-old Columbus star who paces the pack with $51,426 despite picking up only $400 in last week's National Open, has an eye on the $20,000 top prize in the $110,000 Cleveland Open, which starts its four-day, 72-hole medal-play grind Thursday.

While runner-up Arnold Palmer ($49,651) and fourth-place Tony Lema ($40,561) passed up practice rounds Tuesday over the 6,821-yard, par-71 municipal layout — Nicklaus measured every inch of it.

Instead of cooking up a skin game with some of the other competitors Nicklaus went out alone with only his caddy tagging along. He kept no score, but he had a score card full of notes when he came in.

Also missing the practice jaunt were Ken Venturi, last week's surprise winner of the National Open, and classy Dow Finsterwald. The temperature was in the 90s, and tornado field of 149 professionals and 10 warnings were flying to dis today as each teamed with three courage much of the talented amateurs.

In a best-ball handi-play-for-pay group. The pro cap round with $10,000 going to fessionals paid no entry fee, but each of the 150 amateurs tossed

While the over-all administration picture remains basically the same for President Johnson as it did for the late John Kennedy, the immediate group, the inner circle of adviser and assistants, has been a changing thing. Pictured above are the LBJ "brand" of men. Bill Moyers is officially the deputy director of the Peace Corps, but his duties also include appointments and scheduling of trips and appearances for the President. George Reedy, the only non-Texan among the Johnson men, has replaced Pierre Salinger as press secretary. Horace Bushy, a talented writer, fills the shoes in part of Ted Sorensen. Jack Valenti is "chief" Presidential aide. Walter Jenkins serves the President as administrative assistant, handling any number of functions.

Cotton Trains for Bout This Week

By JAC KHEWINS

Associated Press Sports Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — Eddie Cotton said today he isn't crossing his fingers. He might break one.

Freshly turned 38 and looking much too healthy for his own good, ol' Breaks 'n' Aches Eddie is winding up training this week at his home base for a July 3 bout in New York with Wayne Thornton.

The winner expects to earn a crack at Willie Pastrano's lightweight title in September — and that's the break Eddie has been hoping for.

If the Cottons keep a family album it's probably full of X-ray pictures. Lanky Ed has been knocked out only once in a ring career dating back to 1947, but he's been on the medical shelf so often the doctors think his name is Eddie Fracture.

The tally—not counting mere sprains—is four broken hands, two to a side; one fractured pelvis; one bout with pneumonia which he won by a narrow decision.

Cotton started getting the breaks literally when he cracked his left mitt on the jaw of Dave Whitlock in California in 1956.

He signed up the same year to box Archie Moore but broke the same hand again in training.

The jinx abandoned Ed for six years while he interspersed fist-cuffs with his job as a toolmaker at the Boeing airplane plant here. A day or two before he was to fly to Peru and box Mauro Mina in January 1962, a 75-pound chunk of aluminum popped out of a shaping press

$200 into the pot. The professional shooting today's best round was due for a $1,000 prize and the pro in the leading foursome had an $800 payoff on tap. So one of them could possibly pick up

10,800.

Player to Sign With Angels

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP) — Rick Reichardt, the University of Wisconsin's hard-hitting outfielder who had been sought by almost every major league baseball club, will sign with the Los Angeles Angels, his father, Dr. F.W. Reichardt said today.

Reichardt will fly to Los Angeles and sign the contract later today, Dr. Reichardt said. The 21-year-old outfielder, Big Ten batting champion for the last two years, said he would not sign for a bonus of less than $100,000.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A desire to make movies on an anti-Castro bombing mission last week may have spelled doom for the raiders, Cuban exiles said today.

"The pilot, Luis Diaz, asked that he be permitted to make the raid in daylight rather than during protective darkness," said spokesmen for the sponsoring organizations, Revolutionary Recovery Insurrectional Movement and Commandos L.

"He wanted to make pictures and show them later to spur collection of funds to buy planes for bigger raids on Cuba," Diaz, 23, was killed after he and two companions dropped three homemade bombs on a central Cuba sugar mill. Havana radio said the other two were injured when the plane was shot down. Both were captured.

and lagged Eddie in passing. It broke his pelvis, sprained his right hand badly and left him in the hospital on fight night. The bout was put off of October and Cotton lost a split decision to Mina but got a rematch for January of unlucky 1963.

He lost again while breaking his right hand on the Mina to-pography. In May he tested the hand on Henry Peterson and won by a knockout, but broke it again in June in the process of defeating hick Calderwood at Glasgow, Scotland. By October he was back in the ring, whipping Hank.

Since then Cotton has broken nothing except the heart of his manager, Gerge Chermers. This he accomplished by catching pneumonia on the eve of a televised fight at Chicago in March. The Thornton scrap will be his first since recovery.

Scranton in Delaware for Vote Drive

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania took his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination into neighboring Delaware and New Jersey today.

With a combined delegate strength of 52 votes, the two states were first on a list of regions to be visited by Scranton during his second full week of an 11th-hour bid to overtake and surpass the front runner for the nomination, U. S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

After a morning appearance in Wilmington, Del., Scranton was to cap the day by giving the principal address at a Newark, N.J., $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

Wednesday Scranton will visit Charleston, W. Va., and Miami, Fla. His staff was working on appearances in Ohio and Michigan later in the week.

The current Associated Press delegate poll shows that in Delaware all 12 delegates are committed to favorite son Sen. John J. Williams. Scranton's people believe they can capture at least 7 of those votes, if released by Williams.

The figures for New Jersey showed 8 for Goldwater, 2 for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 1 for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, 4 for Scranton and 25 uncommitted.

In the AP poll Goldwater's total indicated delegate support would give him more than enough for the nomination — if the support held up through the first ballot at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

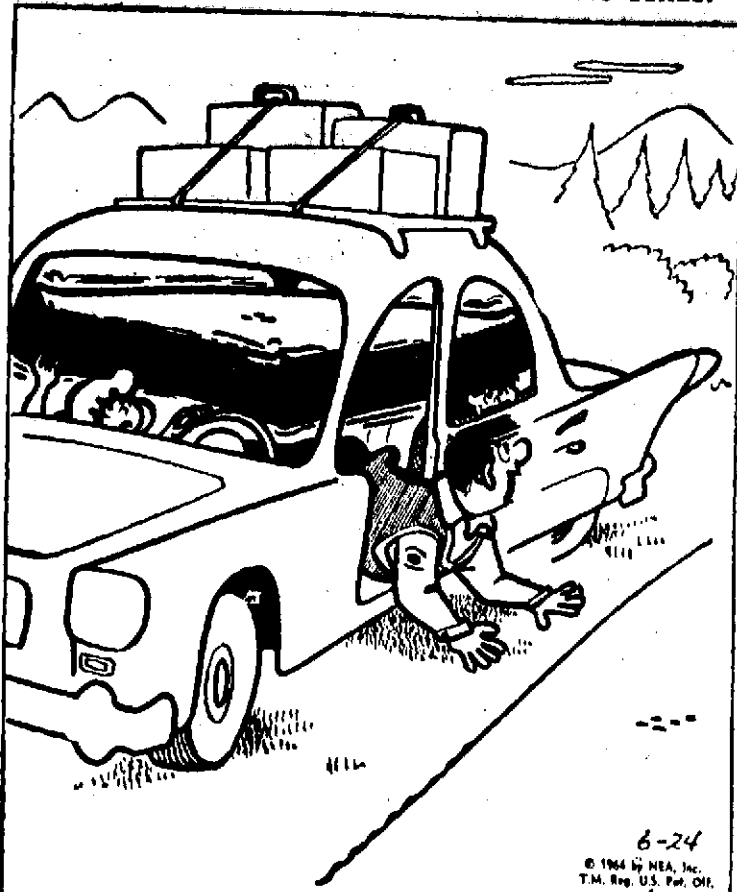

Scranton said during his 4,000-

Pasadena, 130 miles to the north, said the quake probably was centered ventose to San Diego.

The city had a sharp quake Sunday morning and a series of light tremors just after noon Monday.

mile flying tour of five Midwestern states last week that his objective was to visit every delegation he could that was not legally bound to Goldwater.

Scranton told a news conference Monday that results of his first tour in the Midwest were "better than I expected."

Asked to specify states from which he had received favorable reports, Scranton named North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

Scranton was asked about published reports that some top Republicans were aiding his campaign privately. He replied that he had been in contact with many party leaders, including two former national chairmen, Leonard W. Hall and Meade Alcorn, before and after he decided to run, but made no direct references as to whether they were supporting his bid. After the news conference, Scranton flew to Washington and paid courtesy calls on Senate and House Republican leaders to compliment them on their support of civil rights legislation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a reporter that Scranton "popped into my office to compliment me on my support of the civil rights bill." Dirksen said Scranton "was only here for a moment."

Scranton has used Goldwater's vote against the civil rights bill last Friday as a principal issue in the pre-convention campaign.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BO THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ray (Crash) Corrigan, who endured hundreds of battles in his career as a Western actor, is engaged in the fight of his life. His opponent: his ex-wife.

The prize is the Corriganville movie ranch, 1,611 acres of rock-strewn hills and Western sets 25 miles north of Hollywood. Crash paid $11,000 for it in 1937. A fortnight ago the former Mrs. Corrigan outbid him in court with an offer of $2,500,000 for the property.

Crash has his aces in the hole. If his ex-wife comes up with the purchase price, he'll get half as his share of ownership. His production company holds a 23-year lease on the ranch, so he intends to continue operating it.

This was the latest of a series of court clashes in which the ex-wife, now Mrs. Rita Stiltz, has tried to wrest control of the property from Corrigan. She has plans to turn the ranch into a housing development.

"When I bought this place, it had been used as a dump for 30 years," he recalled. "Nothing but tin cans all over. It took me three years to clean it up and build camera roads so movie companies could work here."

"I put 30 years of my life into this place. I built it from nothing into a top tourist attraction that has as many as 15,000 visitors a day."

"I'd like to go on building it. I've had money from the East offer to back me in making this a Western Disneyland."

He continues to operate Corriganville for the summer trade seven days a week. He runs the place with a firm, benevolent hand. At 57, Crash remains a robust figure, able to take a horse fall with the best of the stunt men.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—There'll be a hot time in the whole country as the three major television networks buckle down to the business of covering politics during the next five months.
All three have come to regard a presidential election year as a time to flex the muscles of their news departments, plunging into furious competition to get on camera first with a news item and in nailing bigwigs for interviews.
It is a time, too, when television experiments with some of the wondrous new electronic developments. This year's little marvel is expected to be a lightweight television camera which, free of the usual tie to an electrical outlet, can go anywhere.

May we, the family and relatives of Mr. Amon Rayford McKinley, express our undying gratitude to the many friends and neighbors, whose kind words and good deeds did so much to dispel the sadness which overcame us during our bereavement. May the same spirit prevail in your hearts and in your community that the burden of others may be lightened along life's way. May we say again, thank you very much.

a cameraman can walk—perhaps even into a smoke-filled room, hitherto out of sight and sound.

Each network is sending huge staffs and tons of equipment to the Republican convention in July and to the Democratic convention in August. Each plans to devote many hours of prime evening time to special programs, documentaries, analyses, explanations and interviews. There will even be politically orientated programs for children and for women.

A delicate job, the broadcaster's special headache, will be keeping a careful balance in time and television exposure among the candidates, between the major parties.

Under the Federal Communications Act, the networks, which are exceedingly careful about what is said on the air, are prohibited from censoring the statements of any candidate. Networks or stations may, however, refuse to permit non-candidates from making statements they believe to be libelous or defamatory.

During the campaign months, the networks will be carrying many campaign commercials. During the late summer and fall, many entertainment programs will be clipped short to make room for them—a situation which may not make viewers, already inundated with commercials, particularly happy.

Politics and political programs, will make things for program arrangers more difficult in September, when the new show season begins.

Anyway, from now until November, it will be a busy time for the network news staffs.

I listened to the combo and waited. They finished one number and were starting on another when I saw my waiter coming.
"Sorry, sir," he said, his voice low as he picked up my empty glass. "I have instructions to spill a drink on you and to tell you to make a scene when it happens."
"All right," I said. I got out a cigarette and started to light it.
He set a fresh drink in front of me and started to turn away. As he did, his tray hit the glass. The emptied glass landed in my lap. I leaped to my feet.
"What's the matter with you?" I said loudly.
The waiter glanced around nervously as though he were worried about the other customers witnessing this scene. "If you'll just follow me, sir, everything will be taken care of."
It was hard to keep from smiling as we went past the table where Dell and Potti sat. They weren't sure whether this was on the level or not.
Pete Moretti was sitting behind a desk in his office. He was a big man with dark hair, now beginning to thin. Otherwise he looked about the same as the last time I'd seen him.
"Milo," he said. "It's good to see you. How'd you like the service?"
"Great," I said, looking down at my wet trousers. "but couldn't you have figured out a way that wouldn't look so much like an old Buster Keaton movie?"
I walked over to the desk and shook hands with him. I dropped into the chair beside his desk.
"Somebody on your tail?"
I nodded. "Two fellows you might know and they might know you. That's why I didn't want to be obvious about coming back."
"Who?"
"Jerry Dell and Nick Potti."
"Guns—and good ones. You want them off your back?"
I shook my head. "But I do want a favor from you, if it's possible."
"I owe you a favor," he said quietly.
"Do you remember the name Thomas Rako?"
He frowned. "Sure. I never knew him. He was a gun, too. Not as good as these two. He made a showing before a Washington hearing, then vanished."
"I think he's still alive and hiding out somewhere. I'm trying to find him for an insurance company. The two boys outside want me to find him. They both want me to find him. So did Rako."
"You think he's out here?"
"I doubt it. But I think he came here from Washington and then went somewhere else. He could get it almost anywhere through Clark but he may have had some contacts of his own out here. He was here when he was a kid and got his first conviction here. But direct help I'm sure was dangerous for everybody."
"How?"
"Two union members helped him in Washington and they were both dead within a week. They were probably killed by a smalltime hood who also turned up dead."
"Covering up the trail, huh? Rako wasn't that big a man. Why should anybody go to so much trouble for him?"
"I think he had something on Clark and still has."
He nodded. "What do you want Milo?"
"I'm pretty sure that Rako came here the evening of May 6 seven years ago. I'd like to know where he went from here."
"I'll see what I can do. Where are you staying?"
"The Imperial."
"Stay around there tomorrow and I'll call you."
"Thanks, Pete."
"You earned it years ago. I'll call you sometime tomorrow." I left the office and went back the way I'd come. Dell and Potti were still at their table, looking nervous until they caught sight of me. They relaxed as I sat down at my table and the waiter came over.
At four o'clock the next afternoon the phone rang.
"Milo, this is Pete," he said. "Come over to the club. It's closed, but Mario will be watching for you and let you in. Only lose your two boys. How well do you know San Francisco?"
"I've been here a couple of times."
"All right. Go to Cost Plus on Taylor Street, close to Fisherman's Wharf. It's a split-level basement store. It also has more than one exit. You should be able to lose them there."
I hung up, put on my tie and coat, and I went downstairs. Dell and Potti were both in the lobby looking as they were tired of waiting. They straightened up in their chair as I went by.

Integration Move Planned Next Fall

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

A wave of decisions to desegregate all-white schools in the Arkansas River Valley will make next fall the biggest school desegregation year yet in Arkansas.

The total number of desegregated school districts in the state will remain less than five per cent of the total in this 10th year since the U.S. Supreme Court's historic desegregation decision.

About 20 of the state's 414 districts will be desegregated next September.

The record total for next fall is seven, according to the state Education Department. Those in the river valley include Ola, Danville and Havana, which are desegregating all grades, and Atkins, Dardanelle and Russellville, which are desegregating the top four grades only.

North Little Rock is the seventh district which has announced plans to desegregate in the 1964-65 school term. Several other districts are considering desegregating next September, but no decisions have been announced.

The reasons for desegregating schools along the Arkansas River were varied. School officials said some of the reasons were:

—“This was working a hardship on the Negro students, and it was costly and dangerous (to send them by bus to a Negro high school in Morrilton).”

—“After the others (other school districts) decided to desegregate, we had to. We couldn't afford the cost of a special bus to Morrilton.”

—“We know if it got into court we didn't have a chance. We just avoided the court trouble.”

In the past, these cities in the Russellville - Dardanelle area sent their Negro pupils to Sullivan High School at Morrilton on a special bus.

Last term there were 35 Negroes from Russellville being bussed to Morrilton, 25 to 30 from Atkins, 13 from Dardanelle, 6 from Ola, 5 from Danville and 2 from Havana.

The trip for some students was 50 miles one way.

Though the enrollment at Sullivan will be “seriously reduced” by the withdrawal of 85 students from these six cities, officials at Morrilton say they have no plan to integrate their schools.

The Arkansas Council on Human Relations, cheered by the decisions to desegregate, is disappointed by the fact that three of the cities are desegregating only the top four grades.

“First,” said Ozell Sutton of the council, “it only makes for more trouble. They'll have to desegregate the rest of the grades later, and it can be a painful process—that last step Experience has shown it's easier to do it all at once.”

“Second,” Sutton said, “these districts, like most of them in Arkansas, will be trying to maintain two separate school systems with less money than other states spend on one system. Until this business ends, Arkansas is always going to be on the bottom of the list in education.”

These are what Sutton called “hard, cold, economic facts of life.”

Several school officials said they hoped to save money through desegregation—at both the four-year cities and at the cities where all 12 grades are to be desegregated.

But they said they did not decide to desegregate to save money by reducing the district budget.

They said the reasons were (1) to avoid a court fight which they believed they would lose, (2) to eliminate an unfair hardship on Negroes, and (3) to prevent district costs from increasing through continued maintenance of separate systems or through a need to make further special arrangements for transportation of Negroes to Morrilton.

Russellville, Dardanelle and Atkins, which have separate systems for whites and Negroes in the first eight grades, plan to continue operating these separate systems.

Districts that have already desegregated in Arkansas include Fort Smith, Van Buren, Fayetteville, Hoxie, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, Dardanelle, Little Rock, Gosnell, Pulaski County Rural, Bentonville and Charleston, which was the first state district to desegregate all 12 grades.

The Human Relations Council is upset at what Sutton calls the snail's pace of desegregation in the state.

Since the Supreme Court ruling, Arkansas districts have desegregated at an average of two per year. At this rate, it would require another 195 years for all Arkansas public school districts to be desegregated. However, about a third of Arkansas' districts have no Ne-

Says Planning Keynote to the Future

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Winthrop Rockefeller said Monday that planning is the keynote to the future of Arkansas.

In two almost identical speeches, one to a civic club luncheon here and another to a GOP get-acquainted dinner, Rockefeller urged Arkansians to join him in planning a better future for the state.

Rockefeller was in Union County and El Dorado for a day of handshaking tours and the two speeches. He stopped at a number of smaller cities and towns as well as El Dorado.

Arkansas has great potential for a leading role in industry, culture, education and recreation, Rockefeller said in his talks.

“But,” he said, “to achieve this calls for careful planning and a proper program.”

In discussing education,

Rockefeller said he was alarmed by the school dropout rate. The future of Arkansas is in the young people, he said, and they should be guaranteed an education to insure prosperity.

Rockefeller cited the Arkansas Arts Center at Little Rock as a basis for the improvement of culture in the state. He also encouraged the hiring of more art instructors in the state's colleges.

Rockefeller also proposed that the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission be taken out of politics and put on a professional basis. He said if he is elected governor that would be one of the steps he would take to promote industrial growth.

On recreational aspects,

Rockefeller predicted that by the year 2000, the recreational needs of the nation will have doubled, and, he said, “Arkansas has a great chance to be a recreational center of the U.S. with proper planning.”

Rockefeller told the Republican group that the people in Union County had been very friendly toward him and had indicated they wanted a change in state government.

In an interview on television state KTVE - TV, Rockefeller said he would begin campaigning in earnest in late August or early September.

Astronomers Becoming Nat'l Heroes

By RALP HDIGHTON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You have probably never met one.

They're nocturnal, mostly, and dwell on mountain tops in silvery domes that open only at night.

But they do come down into the cities occasionally, to greet their wives, kiss their kids and pick up fresh supplies.

You could, conceivably, bump into one.

If you do and his clothes look a little rumpled, it's probably because they've been on him all night, neglected while he gazed at sights in time and space that only his kind can see.

If you talk to him and his words have little meaning to you it's because he thinks in a polyglot jargon of technical terms invented to convey ideas beyond the ken of ordinary mortals.

If he seems like he's from another world — it's because that is what he deals with most of the time: Other worlds.

But treasure the meeting — you've just met a new kind of national hero.

He's an astronomer.

The blazing dawn of the space age has thrown a sudden light of public recognition on this savant of the night.

Once he wore black robes and peaked cap, and ordinary folk thought he could tell the future from the stars.

When it became a national goal to rocket humans into the hostile environment of the moon and planets, only the astronomer could plot the trajectories and guess what the explorers would encounter on their arrival.

Before the space age opened with the launching of man-made satellites in 1957, the biggest single sum of money astronomers had ever been given to spend was $6 million in private funds — the cost of the 200-inch telescope on Palomar Mountain in Southern California.

Since 1957, some $50 million in government money has been granted by the National Science Foundation to Kitt Peak National Observatory at Tucson, Ariz., and the National Radio Astronomy Observatory at Green Bank, W. Va.

Even greater expenditures are planned for a new astronomical center being developed by five European nations and this country on the peaks of northern Chile.

A few years ago discovery that the atmosphere of Mars was even thinner than supposed would have rated attention only in scientific journals. Today it wins headlines in newspapers all over the world — because it means more millions than planned must be spent learning how to soft-land instruments and men safely on that most earth-like of planets.

When the huge telescope on Palomar Mountain 100 miles south of Los Angeles was opened to public view in 1948, nonprofessional visitors were rare. Last year more than 15,000 had a glimpse through the giant glass eye of light from objects trillions of miles away.

In 1957, the nation's universities counted 188 graduates in astronomy, by last year the number had risen to 524 and hundreds more were rejected for lack of facilities.

The star-gazer's formal training lasts as long as a physician's. Twenty years or more of study pass before he wins his doctorate.

The astronomer today must be a master of mathematics and physics.

He must also know geology and chemistry, so he can understand the make-up of other planets; biology and botany; electronics and engineering; the new science of nuclear energy, because the sun and other stars are hydrogen bombs in endless explosion; four to six foreign languages; and public affairs, because today he spends a great deal of public money and consequently is involved in politics.

Urges Resolution Against Ruling

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia Legislature has approved a resolution urging the state's U.S. senators to seek to take from federal courts the power to decide legislative reapportionment cases.

After heated debate, the Senate approved the resolution by a 33-13 vote Monday.

The House had approved the resolution shortly after the recent Supreme Court decision on reapportionment of both legislative bodies by population. The Senate tabled it the first time around.
